

HSFCA Commission Statement on Support for the Arts in Hawai'i

The Hawai'i State Foundation on Culture and the Arts commissioners are fully committed to continuing our legislatively mandated responsibilities. HSFCA programs supporting culture and the arts touch every island and many communities, including thousands of individuals. Our programs contribute an essential arts aspect to the education of our children.

The HSFCA commissioners are monitoring the situation and remain hopeful that the budget crisis can be resolved without extensive layoffs. We also appreciate that every State agency and all employees are facing considerable uncertainty and difficult decisions.

First and foremost, we are focusing on the important work that must continue whatever the outcome of negotiations and arbitration. We are very grateful to the foundation staff who remain dedicated and continue working hard even in these difficult times. We also appreciate the arts and culture organizations, individuals, and community groups which have spoken out recently about the importance of support for the arts.

Ho'oulu: The Inspiration of Hula

September 4, 2009 to July 17, 2010, Hawai'i State Art Museum, Free

The Hawai'i State Art Museum presents Ho'oulu: The Inspiration of Hula, an exhibit of hula-inspired and hula-related relocatable and commissioned works from the Art in Public Places (APP) Collection.

Additional works on loan from Bishop Museum, Hula Preservation Society, visual artist Solomon Enos, and cultural practitioners Moana Eisele and Ka'iulani de Silva will also be on display.

Ho'oulu: to grow; inspired as for artistic creation; to enter in and inspire. The term describes the proliferation of hula, beginning with the hula deities to the numerous kumu hula and hālau hula (hula schools) throughout the world.

It explains how hula, as the muse, has moved artists to produce the works in the APP Collection. Ho'oulu expresses an objective of the advisory committee and exhibit team: to motivate HiSAM visitors to learn more about hula and Hawaiian culture.

The exhibit is designed to mimic the 'ōhi'a lehua tree, a tree beloved by and associated with the hula deities. Hi'iakaikapoliopele planted a grove of red and white lehua for her friend, Hōpoe, who taught the goddess the hula.

Hula goddess, Kapo'ulakīna'u, loved the lehua of Kā'ana, Moloka'i. Offerings of 'ōhi'a lehua flowers are placed on the altar to Laka, a patroness of hula. The flowers represent Kūka'ōhi'alaka, the male deity of hula, also known as Laka. His symbol is the legendary tree, 'Ōhi'a Laka, that bears one red lehua blossom on the eastern branch and one white lehua blossom on the western branch.

Beginning with the roots, Hi'iakaikapoliopele's epic tale, one of the origin stories of hula, is illustrated in a variety of media. Two such works from the APP Collection are a series of seven black and white photographs by Bill Woods. The series is based on the encounter of Hi'iaka and her relative Mālei at Makapu'u, O'ahu.

The other is a commissioned work of art by Kazu Kauinana. Ka Mo'o Ili'ili references Hi'iaka slaying the mo'o (dragon) of Mānoa Valley. Kauinana's sculpture rests on the mo'o's remains at Kūhiō Elementary School. A few of Enos' illustrations from Ka Mo'olelo o Hi'iakaikapoliopele and The Epic Tale of Hi'iakaikapoliopele are featured here.

The trunk or kumu features the portraits of renowned kumu hula who have received the Order of Distinction for Cultural Leadership from the State of Hawai'i: 'Iolani Luahine, Rosalie Lokalia Montgomery, Mary Kawena Pukui, and Edith Kanaka'ole.

The branches contain the portraits of loea hula (hula resources) by photographer Shuzo Uemoto, with additional photographs by George Bacon and Chris McLuckie. The portraits were featured in Volume 1 of Nānā I Nā Loea Hula: Look to the Hula Resources, published in 1984 by Kalihi-Pālama Culture and Arts Society, Inc.

The fruits and flowers of the 'ōhi'a are represented by dances and dancers. Photographer Francis Haar documented kumu hula (hula master) 'Iolani Luahine with kumu hula Tom Hiona performing different hula in the late 1960s and early 1970s. A selection will be featured, as well as Harr's portrait of Aunt Jennie Wilson, a dancer at King David Kalākaua's court. To complement the still images, the 1976 HSFCF-sponsored film by Tip Davis of Aunty 'Io with her niece Hoakalei Kamau'u, entitled Hawaiian Dancer, will be shown.

The Hula Preservation Society, in partnership with the HSFCF, is producing a video containing interviews that they have conducted with some of the kumu hula in the branches section. The video will premiere in the gallery.

Hula costumes of kapa (barkcloth) by Moana Eisele and Ka'iulani de Silva will be on display. A brief history of the HSFCF's involvement with hula will also be presented.

The exhibit team was advised by hula and Hawaiian cultural experts. The consultants are kumu hula and Maui Arts and Culture Center's Cultural Director Hōkūlani Holt-Padilla; kumu hula and educator at Hawai'i Community College, Nālani Kanaka'ole; Hula Preservation Society director and kumu hula Maile Beamer Loo; University of Hawai'i at Mānoa Hawaiian language professor and translator M. Puakea Nogelmeier; and Cultural Activities Director of the Royal Hawaiian Center and kumu hula, Manu Boyd.

Second Saturday

Celebrating Fine Craft

September 12, 2009, 11 a.m.-3 p.m.,

Hawai'i State Art Museum, Free

Unleash your inner artist at a special Second Saturday event entitled Celebrating Fine Craft featuring art activities with members of Hawai'i Craftsmen. This free event will be held at the Hawai'i State Art Museum (HiSAM) on Saturday, September 12th from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Join in the fun as the talented artisans of Hawai'i Craftsmen show you how to create your own art. Create finger puppets out of clay. Watch the pros, then try your hand on the potter's wheel. Paint a wooden top turned on a lathe. Create a colorful web with yarn. Make artworks out of metal. See knitters knit, turners turn, throwers throw, and more!

This free event is presented by the Hawai'i State Foundation on Culture and the Arts and the Friends of the Hawai'i State Art Museum. While you are at the museum, you can see the art in our galleries, which are open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Members of Hawai'i Craftsmen will show you how to use the potter's wheel at Second Saturday at HiSAM on September 12th.

Art Lunch Lecture

Shuzo Uemoto

September 29, 2009, 12-1 p.m.

Hawai'i State Art Museum, Free

The Art Lunch lecture entitled Shuzo Uemoto – Remembering Moments with Legendary Kumu Hula will be held at the Hawai'i State Art Museum in the Multipurpose Room on Tuesday, September 29th at noon. This free event is presented by the Hawai'i State Foundation on Culture and the Arts and the Friends of the Hawai'i State Art Museum.

Photographer Shuzo Uemoto will share his memories of moments spent with legendary kumu hula. As part of his strong cultural commitment to Hawai'i and the Hawaiian community, he visited with and photographed dozens of revered kumu for Nānā I Na Loea Hula (Look to the Hula Resources).

This project, initiated in 1981 by the Kalihi-Palama Culture & Arts Society, Inc., resulted in the publication of two books of immeasurable value. In each, a stunning and insightful portrait by Uemoto and a full-page first-person narrative represents each individual kumu. Uemoto worked with Wendell Silva and Alan Suemori, who were responsible for the interviews and transcriptions of the narratives for the books. Seventy of these portraits will be on display in the exhibition entitled Ho'oulu: The Inspiration of Hula which opens at the Hawai'i State Art Museum on Friday, September 4, 2009.

Largely self-taught, Uemoto has earned his reputation as one of Hawai'i's most respected photographers. His work has been exhibited internationally and is included in the collections of the Honolulu Academy of Arts, The Contemporary Museum, and the Art in Public Places Collection of the Hawai'i State Foundation on Culture and the Arts.
